Dear BRAHM Family,

What an amazing year we have experienced here at BRAHM. Such a dedicated and talented staff, a committed and caring Board of Trustees, and an amazing family of supporters! I have been honored to be a small part of this incredible community. Thank you.

Our future planned exhibits and programs are certain to draw attention to BRAHM and what we have and offer. Being an active and alive museum, hearing the sounds of children running to or from educational programs, having so much beyond “ART” to offer our community, and knowing we are succeeding is beyond thrilling.

Thank you for all you do. To use a quote from a close friend “Yay us!”

Sincerely,

Bo Henderson, Board of Trustees President

Dear Friends of BRAHM,

Six years ago this museum opened its doors. The dream was a reality and all of the fundraising, planning, and envisioning was a real, tactile creation. That dream was BRAHM.

When the doors opened, who knew that we could curate an exceptional exhibit of North Carolina glass artists or be selected as a host site for an exhibit with the Smithsonian Institute? Who knew that in 2017 we could serve over 3300 children through classes, field trips, and summer programs? Who knew we would enjoy the contribution of over 2900 hours of volunteer time in one year? Who knew over 80 people would attend an evening program on a bitter January night? Who knew that we would open a permanent exhibit on the history of Blowing Rock? Who knew that in six years we would have a permanent collection valued at over $1.2 million dollars? Who knew we would be a loved and beloved cultural center in the heart of this special town? Some of you did know. You could see how we could grow and what we could be, and you believed in our future.

In 2017, BRAHM did everything mentioned above and so much more. With the work of a dedicated and talented staff and a committed Board of Trustees this museum has grown, matured, and improved. With the support of our patrons, town, and visitors we are inspired to keep striving, keep growing, and keep improving.

Thank you for your support!

Warmly,

Lee Carol Giduz, Executive Director

Exhibitions

A note from Dianna Cameron, Curator of Exhibitions & Collections Director:

“Our permanent collection and exhibitions continue to thrive and grow thanks to hundreds of collaborators, patrons, and volunteers who help pull everything together. We’ve really expanded our collaborative efforts this past year, and I can’t say enough how humbled I am to be part of all we do, with all of you. Many thanks, as always, for your continued support.”

Education & Outreach

From Jennifer Garonzik, Education Center Director:

2017 has been a year of building on solid foundations in our Education Center. We have increased attendance in our weekly art classes for children, Doodlebug Club, and Afternoon Art. This year saw the addition of another grade of students from Blowing Rock School attending our monthly Young at Art program as well. Our summer was full of activity in the Education Center as children from Blowing Rock Parks and Recreation Day Camps were given several opportunities to create in our space. We also hosted workshops and camps for paper sculpture, nature art, and map making with community children.

The continuation of and expansion of adult hands-on opportunities included figure drawing, oil painting, and watercolor classes, as well as face jug sculpting, tablet weaving, and small landscape painting workshops. Our Cork & Canvas sessions continue to bring the joy of making art to the community.

From Willard Watson III, Programs & Outreach Director:

2017 was a delightful year! It was a whirlwind of community activity that included a talk about “Strong Mountain Women: How Ballads Shape a People,” led by eighth generation ballad singer Donna Rae Norton, a round table discussion and cheese tasting with local WNC cheese makers, a lecture and reading from award-winning author and illustrator Gail Hailey, and a nine-film movie series that explored the visual arts and Appalachian culture.

Our summer concert series brought world class music to BRAHM’s atrium and was packed for musical performances by the classical quartet, the Vivaldi Project, folk duo Zoe & Cloyd, and fiddle player Kevin Burke. We also held a Caroling and Wassailing event led by local Yale trained opera singer, Christy Lombardozzi.

Students from High Country public schools visited for our Free Field Trip Program, which provides free field trips for all Watauga County public schools and school bus reimbursement for the four schools that receive Title I funding.

Thanks to your support, 2017 was a great year!

Marketing

A message from Ashley Warren, Marketing & Communications Director:

2017 saw tremendous growth at BRAHM. With new staff, exhibits, and a gift shop, it's amazing how much can change in just 12 months! Our attendance to programs and events, workshops, and membership are higher than ever before. These changes and growth to the museum also extend to the Marketing & Communications department. We've slimmed down our print advertising to focus our attention on branding and a commitment to excellence in the channels that we are already actively utilizing. This new direction to marketing at the museum allows us to refine our current brand and create consistency--keeping it simple to make a bold impact. We are excited to announce that we've created an Official BRAHM Style Guide in Spring 2018 (examples below).

We thank you for continuing to support the museum by following us on social media, signing up for our newsletter, and joining our mailing list for seasonal updates and invitations to annual fundraisers. We say it over and over, but our patrons and members are the foundation of the museum and allow us to continually achieve our mission.

Financials

A note from Sharon Caldwell, Business Manager:

2017 ended on a positive note with operating funds available to carry BRAHM into the new year. Great appreciation is extended to all of our members, Board of Trustees, donors, and supporters great and small. BRAHM knows that without your financial assistance, volunteer time, energy, and positivity none of this would be possible.

The Endowment fund continues to grow by contributions and investment. We look forward in the coming years to focus on growing this fund for the Museum's future. We have included financial information regarding our 2017 revenue and expense, our 2018 operating budget, as well as the 2017 auditor's Statements of Financial Position and Statement of Activities (financial reports for non-profits, similar to a Balance Sheet and Profit and Loss Statement). *

Our 2018 budget was kept to a modest 3% increase, but confidence in BRAHM's growth in membership, continued increase in programming and education revenue, as well as great support for upcoming exhibits enables this budget to be workable and support BRAHM's mission.

*Any Member/Board Member is welcome to request a digital copy of the full audit report, please contact Sharon Caldwell at 828-295-9099 x3003 with your request.

A message from Anna Clair Miller, Visitor Services Manager and Volunteer Coordinator:

Here at the Front Desk, it was a pleasure to greet those who gathered here for our exceptional 2017 exhibits and programming, to thank them for supporting our institution by purchasing from our brand new gift shop, and to communicate the ever-growing list of reasons to consider a BRAHM Membership. Creating an atmosphere of warmth and inclusivity right at the front door is one of the first steps of advocating the message that art and history are for everyone, and in 2017, this was a responsibility that Visitor Services was proud to fully embrace. There are a variety of reasons why people step foot in this beautiful building, and they frequently don't even involve art or history: Sometimes folks just stumble upon us in their search for directions, a restroom, or a nice postcard. In these moments, Visitor Services welcomes wayfarers with a wonderfully unexpected opportunity to become acquainted with our unique town! What an honor it was to engage with visitors from both near and far, and to personally welcome them to explore our regional art and history!

Gift Shop

2017 saw the reopening of BRAHM's Gift Shop. With items from local and regional artists, a children's section, and our very own blend of coffee, the relaunch of our Gift Shop has proven to be a draw for shoppers as well as an added bonus for visitors.

Membership

A message from Jasmin McFayden, Executive Assistant and Membership Development Coordinator:

As every year passes, our membership grows. In 2017, we gained new household members, business members, offered a Community Week to encourage the community to learn about the museum and saw our membership numbers rise! We are so thankful for all of the individuals, families and business that are part of the greater BRAHM community.

Thank you for your continued support of our Museum and staff!
